

Law

Summer School in Malaysia

Study at Monash University, Malaysia

Monash University's Faculty of Law offers a multi-unit study program in Malaysia together with its international partners International Islamic University (Malaysia), University of Paris-Sud, University of Passau (Germany), University of Windsor (Canada), York University (Canada) and Vrije University Amsterdam (Netherlands).

The exciting Law Malaysia Program, running from late June to August 2016, is modelled on the highly successful Prato Law program. Studying in Malaysia allows you to immerse yourself into life of multicultural Malaysia while studying a range of comparative and international law subjects.

Students will be taught in intensive or semi-intensive mode by distinguished academics from Monash University and partner law schools. In small classes and state-of-the-art facilities, you will enjoy a unique study experience with students from international and local partner universities. At the same time, the Law Malaysia Program offers sufficient flexibility to allow you to experience in your spare time the cultural and natural attractions of Malaysia and the South-East Asian region.

Program period

The Law Malaysia Program runs from late June until late August 2016, with students being able to tailor their own study program to range from 3–8 weeks.

Program units

Units offered include (subject to confirmation):

- Current Issues in Corporate Governance
- Lawyers, literature and cinema
- Comparative constitutions and rights
- International information and media law
- International criminal justice
- Introduction to Islamic law
- The law of climate change
- Corporations Law

For further information regarding units offered visit: law.monash.edu/malaysia/units

Social and cultural opportunities

The campus of Monash University Malaysia is situated within the metropolitan region of Malaysia. Students studying in the Law Malaysia Program have the diverse attractions of Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia's capital city, within easy reach. These include the Petronas Twin Towers and KLCC, endless shopping opportunities around Bukit Bintang, the colonial buildings around Merdeka Square, and the night market in Petaling Street. Outside Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia offers sandy beaches, tropical forests and highlands. There are many reasons why Malaysia is one of the most popular destinations for visitors to Asia.

Malaysia is a multicultural country in which Malays, Chinese, Indians and many other ethnic groups have created a unique community. Malaysia's multiculturalism is reflected in its famous cuisine, diverse festivals as well as the welcoming and friendly attitude of its people. There will be a welcome dinner at the commencement of the Malaysia Law Program where you will have the opportunity to meet fellow participants from other countries.

The program will also include visits to local legal institutions and meetings with members of Malaysia's legal profession.

Program information

Units are taught in semi-intensive or intensive mode with typically a combination of methods (exam, assignment, participation, etc) used for assessment. Most course materials will be made available online, well in advance of the Program.

Facilities

Participants have full access to the Monash Malaysia Library and Learning Commons, including IT and database use, as well as to campus sports facilities.

Students are also able to remotely access Monash University Library's electronic information, including databases and digitised print material.

Student accommodation

Participants have a range of accommodation options all located close to the Monash University Malaysia campus. For further information visit the following website for more details law.monash.edu/malaysia/accommodation

Fees

Please visit the following website for further information law.monash.edu/malaysia/fees

Application requirements

Students must have completed a full year of law studies before participating in this program.

Websites

Malaysia Law Program details law.monash.edu/malaysia

Monash University Malaysia monash.edu.my

Contacts

Law Malaysia Program Co-ordinator at your home university.

or

Monash University, Faculty of Law law-international@monash.edu

 facebook.com/Monash.University

 twitter.com/MonashUni

